GENERAL SPECIFICATIONS

Background information	United Nations Convention on Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) is a complex and broad-ranging formulation of international law that seeks to regulate the use of the world's seas and oceans for the benefit of mankind. Numerous scientific and technical considerations impinge upon the application of UNCLOS, just as UNCLOS has implications for the practice of marine science and technology.
Justification of the project	There has been lack of short-term training opportunity on technical aspects of maritime boundaries.
Countries involved	14 (MBSHC MSs and Non-Member States in MBS area)
Explanation of the problem	Lack of knowledge in the interaction between the Law of the Sea and the disciplines of Geodesy, Hydrography, and Geoscience and in the application of hydrography and cartography to maritime baselines and marine environment.
General objective	To teach participants the basic technical principles to maritime boundary delimitation
Specific objectives	This workshop addresses the interplay between the Law of the Sea and the disciplines of Geodesy, Hydrography, and Geoscience. It provides an overview of a series of technical issues whose satisfactory realization is key to the orderly practice of international law in the marine environment.
Outputs/Products	The delegates with technical cartographic background will be able to understand the importance of technical aspects in the delimitation process, the legal principles behind boundary delimitation.
Other deliverables	The delegates can play their role in a boundary team alongside lawyers, politicians and other experts.

Achievements and awaited benefits	Participant will have knowledge on the technical aspects of implementing the UNCLOS
Schedule of activities	TBC 2017
Past and/or current related projects supported by CBSC or other sources	SAIHC in 2015 MACHC in 2015 EAHC in 2010, 2012 and 2014 RSAHC in 2014
