Paper for Consideration by CSPCWG

Layout of S-4

Submitted by:	Secretary
Executive Summary:	S-4 is designed as a printable document. Is this still necessary?
Related Documents:	None
Related Projects:	None

Introduction / Background.

S-4 is designed as a printable document. This includes pages with 'Page intentionally left blank' designed to ensure that new sections and sub-sections always begin on a right hand page.

Part C has an index, retained from when it was a stand-alone separate document. Maintaining this index is not very difficult, as few changes are made to Part C; however, it is inconsistent in that Parts A and B do not have indexes. The indexes to Parts A and B were discarded during revision as it was decided that creating and maintaining such indexes required excessive effort and on-line search engines really made them redundant.

Analysis / Discussion.

The Secretary would be interested to know whether any significant numbers of copies of S-4 are printed. This will inform any decision on whether to dispense with the 'Page intentionally left blank' labels and the index to Part C.
